Civic Club Rummage

Proceeds to Aid in Philanthropic Work

Anybody here seen Rummage? You haven't—you will! And lots of it—when the Civic Club holds its Rummage Sale at 44 N. Baldwin Ave. Saturday, Sept. 30. Don't rush out and buy that new fall hat or those work shirts for Pop until you've browsed through the store of the "Latest and Best Rummage."

Mrs. Wallace Goodwin, Ways and Means chairman for the club, will be in charge of the sale, assisted by Mrs. Ann Hutcheson, Mrs. June Eastwood, Mrs. Betty Osgood and Mrs. Alan Thompson. Proceeds will aid in the philanthropic work of the Civic club.

Members say there will be desirable, useful and practical garments for everyone from Grandpa down to Junior. There might even be some slightly used but still good bones for Rover, too.

Capt. Evans Writes in French Locale

Capt. L. M. Evans (Dr. Evans), in writing to Mrs. Evans, 450 N. Baldwin, conveys most graphically the speed, the fatigue, the horror and the hope felt by the Allied Army as it rushes to the final. We quote in part from the letter: "I feel so very guilty at not writing more frequently, but it is just impossible. We are moving constantly and by the time we bivouac for the night it is dark, and of course no lights. I am writing this in a little French Bois where we are having a short halt of an hour or two. We are tired all the time and usually make use of these short periods for catching up on our sleep. You see, we have Les Boches on the run and to keep him running must press to the attack constantly. If you have read your papers of the advance through Normandy and Brittany beginning at St. Lo you have the story of what I have been doing. It is a continuous and strenuous ordeal, but it has to be done and the harder and faster we fight the sooner this will end. Boy! What a day that will be for us all. I think it will be fairly soon but I am not as optimistic as some. I have seen hundreds of smashed and burned Jerry tanks and trucks and a good many very dead Boche, too. Some of them don't look or smell very good. This war has aged me. I am afraid. I don't worry, but just be there when I get back."

LOST PLANE CIRCLING CITY, RESCUED BY MONROVIA POLICE

Many residents of our city were wondering about a lost transport plane which circled over Sierra Madre and nearby towns looking for a place to land Thursday night. A quick-witted Monrovia police sergeant and two patrolmen "rescued" the ship which was blinking landing lights in an apparent effort to find a landing field.

Sgt. Brown called Patrolmen Barney Glenn and Devon Phillips by radio requesting them to go to the Monrovia Airport which has a mile-long landing strip.

The two officers sped to the airport and signalled the aircraft with the aid of police spotlights. Then they placed a white spot on the high-tension wires at the north end of the field and a red spot on the car top designating the edge of the field.

All went well because the lost pilot landed the ship safely and after ascertaining his location took off again for his destination. Police switchboards at Pasadena, Arcadia, Monrovia and Sierra Madre were deluged by calls by people who reported seeing the low-flying plane.

Sgt. Brown reported that had the plane not circled toward the valley at Monrovia it might have crashed as the aircraft was below the level of some high peaks north of Sierra Madre.

OPA DEADLINES

Dr. Pritchard calls attention to two deadlines. This week Saturday, Sept. 22, is the last chance to get blanks at the City Hall for A gas coupons. The old A coupons cannot be used for purchase of gas after midnight, Sept. 21. Saturday is also deadline for getting packages to the Red Cross going to boys in hospitals abroad and hospital ships in foreign ports.

Congratulations

A son, Jeffery, was born Friday to Lt. and Mrs. S. W. LaChaffé. Mrs. LaChaffé, nee Peggy Chunn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Chunn, 620 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. Lt. LaChaffé is a pilot with the Air Force, Sardinia, Italy.

FIRE HAZARD ATTACKED BY FOREST GUARD

Early-day residents did a cleaner, safer job of burning their rubbish in barrels or other improvised holders than do the modern householders with their especially-designed fire containers.

This is the observation of Tom Henderson, head guard at the

TOM HENDERSON

Santa Anita station of the Angeles National Forest who started a one-man campaign against the incinerator hazard along the brush-covered foothills of Sierra Madre, Monrovia and Arcadia a year ago. Recently, as a result of his investigations, and persistent effort to have action taken by the proper authorities, 42 new incinerators were installed by residents of these communities and many others are now arranging to have their old worn-out burning devices changed for safe, new ones.

"Modern incinerators are okay for brush country burning and can be bought in any open market. In the old days folks had only barrels to do their burning in, but people were more fire conscious in those days and started fewer fires than they do today despite the fact they had no modern inventions," observed Mr. Henderson who has been a resident of Sierra Madre for the past 36 years.

"Most people are very nice, though, once you explain the dangers of their old worn-out incinerators. Only a few have tried to argue against making them improve their burning devices."

As he goes about his patrols, Mr. Henderson is on the alert for other fire hazards in residential areas adjacent to the forest. Collection of leaves on roofs, piled up dried brush, grass and garden cuttings all present a great danger, especially at this time of year, he cautioned.

His fire-control work goes far beyond the confines of mere duty, for he is the "spark plug" of the Sierra Madre Forest Fire Fighters Service, a civilian group of forest protectors which he serves as training officer.

He has worked on many big fires in the Angeles Forest including the Hastings Fire of 1918, and the San Gabriel Canyon fire of 1924. When in 1918 he was made water superintendent and later fire marshal of Sierra Madre he accepted both jobs with the understanding that he would be relieved to fight forest fires any time the need arose.

Notice

The Sierra Madre News is interested in all men and women in the service and would welcome information from the parents and families. This has been found to be of great benefit to the men overseas as they read of the activities and location of other home-town men and women. No information objectionable to the censor will be published. We would like pictures of all in the service to be made into cuts which will be provided at cost. Snap shots and colored pictures are not satisfactory. Good pictures which will be returned to the family are desired.

TRIPLE FS DOING A FINE SERVICE

Sierra Madre, Only City to Have Such an Organization

The Triple F.S.—Forest Fire Fighters Service of Sierra Madre, and the Ladies' Auxiliary are doing a splendid work. Recently Kenneth W. Kearney, David Durand, Arthur Johnson, Craig McLaughlin, Bruce McGill and Tom Henderson were called to San Diego to assist in the big forest fires there. The Laguna Mountain fire burned over 61,000 acres and the Aguanga fire, 32,000. The fire started from a cigarette and the person was fined $125 for a million-dollar fire. Twenty thousand soldiers were impressed into service to assist in the work.

Sierra Madre was the first to organize and is the only town in the foothill area that has such an organization, which is a branch of the Civilian Defense. A number of the Auxiliary ladies from this city went to Arcadia to the U. S. Forest Service warehouses at the Angeles Forest and the Cleveland National Forest headquarters to help wash 800 sets of dishes used to feed the fighters, which were brought back in trucks from the fire area.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS TO SEND CHRISTMAS BOXES

Twenty and possibly 25 of the Christmas boxes for Service men, requested by the American Red Cross, will be filled by the Woman's Club of Sierra Madre, according to Mrs. J. Stadden Miller, president.

Mrs. Miller, besides her many duties as president of the club, is also head of the Home Service of the American Red Cross and knows from actual experience with the servicemen's families how much these boxes mean to men away from home at Christmas time.

Corps sprang up in the early 1930's he was invaluable to the Forest Service as a training officer for these young men. Since that time he has served as protective assistant in the Cleveland and Shasta National Forests, but returned home in November, 1943 to stay.

"My heart and soul are in this job of protecting our mountains and foothills from destruction by fire," he declared. "This is what I want to do the remainder of my life."

MORE OBSERVATIONS

Mr. Clifford C. Ward, Sierra Madre News, Sierra Madre, Cal.

Dear Cliff:

Congratulations on the front-page "Counter Observation" you ran in conjunction with Lee Shippey's regular column of "Observations!"

Perhaps you have overrated us as boosters and as friends, but the value of a pat on the back cannot be overlooked; and as long as you retain your good opinion of us personally and as a community, the psychological result will be positive. In other words you force us to live up to your own high regard for us.

Compliments are not too plentiful among friends, and this may be the only time I shall openly express my admiration for the ability and character I now see in you and your help-meet, so I'll get as much of it out of my system as reasonably good judgment will permit.

Lee is absolutely right about the necessity for joining in social and civic gatherings. Of course, like all friendly advice, that applies more to you than it does to Lee and me; and I think Lee would be the first to admit that he, like myself, thinks it impossible to be present at as many of these community gatherings as he would like.

No doubt this letter is inspired by my admiration for your honesty in openly accepting the appellation of "The Squeak" for your paper. Although the term has for years expressed a somewhat contemptuous familiarity, you have, by the manner in which you have accepted it, made it a friendly nickname.

Probably we will always call your journalistic child "The Squeak," but I think that as time goes on, it will be with an increasing sense of pride!

Good luck!

HAROLD ROBERTS.

SILVER WINGS TO LT. TAMBERT

Among the newest comrades of the "wild blue yonder" is officer, 2nd Lt. Robert E. Tambert, who received his silver wings September 8 at Lubbock Army Air Field, Lubbock, Tex., one of the 11 advanced schools of the Army Air Forces Central Flying Training Command.

Lt. Tambert left Tuesday morning for his base in Missouri following a week at the home of his parents, Elmer A. Tambert, 289 E. Grandview. Lt. Tambert has been in the service five years, was formerly a Warrant Officer.

Fire Destroys Garage

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Semke watched the smoke and commotion of a fire from Sierra Madre Blvd. where they were shopping Saturday afternoon, not knowing it was their own garage which was burned until their car was delivered to them by the fire department. The department was able to extricate the car from the fire but the building had too much of a start to save. The walls were left standing and there was no damage to the house. The Semkes live at 73 W. Grand View.

Local Attorney Wins Popular Verdict

Attorney Kenneth W. Kearney, 289 W. Highland, has received many congratulations and much newspaper publicity for the verdict which he won for his client in a case in the Los Angeles court last week, which attracted wide-spread interest. His client took in a woman and her baby evacuated from England and kept them for six months without any rent and later charged them a small rental amount. He was then told that he must evict them as this was a restricted area and only one-family homes were allowed. He refused and a criminal charge was brought against him. When the prosecutor referred to the "kitchen" in which she cooked her meals, Mr. Kearney called it a "sun room" and when his opponent talked about the "cook stove," Kearney called it a "gas plate," etc.

At any rate the verdict was brought in "No cause of action" on the grounds that the ordinance was arbitrarily discriminatory and unreasonable.

Conserso Luncheon Friday at Church

The Women's Society of the Congregational church begins its work after the summer by a luncheon Friday, Sept. 29, at 12:30 at the church, in honor of the Conserso, the organization of young women in the church. This is the second annual affair of this nature. The program following the luncheon will include greetings from the president, Mrs. Converse L. Twycross, with response from Mrs. Kenneth Bush, president of Conserso. Devotions will be led by Mrs. W. S. Hull. Topic of the day is "The Work Ahead." Two guest speakers from the Federation of Congregational Women of Southern California and the Southwest will be Mrs. Ralph D. Brown of San Marino who will speak on "Program-making Helps," and Miss Sue Barnwell, president of the Federation, who will speak on "The Work to be Done."

Reservations for the luncheon should be made before Thursday noon with Mrs. Ralph Lord, 5596.

FRENCH ENTHUSIASTIC, SAYS CPL. WM. CASS JR.

Cpl. Technician William Wayne Cass Jr., who has been through the invasion of Italy, Salerno, etc., and is now in Southern France writes from somewhere in France to his mother, Mrs. Wm. W. Cass: "France is a beautiful country and is the first real civilized place we have hit since we have been overseas. The people are swell and enthusiastic. They throw fruit and flowers in our vehicles and give us wine, eggs, etc. everywhere we stop."

'Round The Town

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hunter and infant son, George, have taken up their residence at 136 W. Highland Ave. after living in Los Angeles for the past year.
Gordon McTavish and mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McTavish, 164 San Gabriel Ct., will leave next Tuesday for San Diego to visit the George Poulter, former residents of Sierra Madre.

Clyde Edmonds of Los Angeles will be a house guest of Mike McGill for the weekend.

Miss Miranda Olds of Laguna Beach returned to her home Wednesday after a week spent with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Baird, E. Laurel.

The Bruce McGills with Eugene Lunsford were seen among the dinner guests at Pierre's, San Marino Tuesday evening.

Radio Technician Third Class John O'Grady, U.S.N., Sierra Madre, Calif., left, and Pvt. Sydney Peters, River Rouge, Mich., examine a Japanese parachute abandoned with stores of other materials when American forces made lightning drives into Dutch New Guinea.

Rather a strange coincidence happened to the new publishers of the News, as they took up their work in Sierra Madre. Mr. Ward recently published the newspaper at River Rouge, Mich., previous to coming here and the first release which came into the office was a story and picture above of a River Rouge man inspecting captured Japanese equipment with Sierra Madre's own John O'Grady, Radio Technician 3/c, who is the son of Mrs. J. E. O'Grady, 535 Manzanita. In a letter received last week by his mother, John tells of a 10-day leave in Australia while recovering from malaria.

Short Illness Takes Well Known Woman

Mrs. Grace Fitzwilliam, widow of the late Robert Fitzwilliam, passed away Saturday morning at a Pasadena hospital. Mrs. Fitzwilliam, a much loved person, was born in Harrisburg, Ill., 58 years ago and has lived in California since she was 18 years of age. She was a graduate nurse of St. Vincent Hospital Nursing School and followed her profession until forced by poor health a few weeks ago to give up her work.

She is survived by sisters, Emily Dwyer, Seattle, Wash., and Mary Denny, Hollywood, and a niece, Gertrude J. Stiegly, Aberdeen, Wash., and a nephew, R. T. Fuller, Olympia, Wash.

The recitation of the Rosary was Monday, 8 p.m., at the Grant Chapel, and Mass Tuesday morning at St. Rita's. Interment was at Calvary cemetery. Pallbearers, at Calvary cemetery, were J. J. Wysocki, Carl Graf, Rudolph Behrens, Wm. D. Richards, Lloyd Welch and Thomas Reynolds.

Mrs. Dwyer and Gertrude Stiegly were in the city for the Tuesday services.

William F. Eden Dies in Hospital

William F. Eden, a resident of Sierra Madre for the past two years, passed away Wednesday, September 13 in a Los Angeles hospital. He is survived by his wife, Adele E., and two sons, Willis E. and Donald C. of Los Angeles, and a brother, Emil of St. Joseph, Mo.

Mr. Eden was an employee of the St. Joseph Street Railway for 32 years.

The service was held in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather at Forest Lawn with Rev. S. R. Sheriff of Bethany church officiating.

Government Sponsors a Health Program

Our Department of the Interior has gone far and has spent thousands of dollars in their effort to draw attention of home-owners to the wisdom of Insulating the Home. The Department tells the "why" and the "how" of Home Insulation and backs up its effort by releasing the full scope of FHA Title 1 so that everyone may have the opportunity of enjoying this major contribution to health and safety in the home, taking as long as three years to pay for the insulation, which, once properly applied, lasts as long as the walls.

Monarch Roofing & Insulating Company, in their use of pneumatically applied U. S. Rock-Wool, report an increasing interest in having homes cared for and continue to hear nothing but praise for the efficiency of U. S. Rock-Wool and the workmanlike manner in which the work is done by their trained crews.

The regular Get-Together of the Triple F for breakfast will be next Sunday in the City Hall basement at 7:30. Members will be pleased to know that the work done at the last meeting has been liberally paid for by the owner.

David Robert Buchan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Buchan, 130 E. Montecito, left Saturday morning for the Navy Training Station, San Diego. David is 17 years of age.

Library Site Poll Subject

A poll is being carried on at the Sierra Madre Public Library to ascertain the viewpoint of the public regarding the location of the future library building. The library board and planning commission are anxious to know if the same location serves the city best or if some other place would be better. The poll was started Monday and will continue throughout next week.

The present lot was a gift and the building was erected 57 years ago. The library opened with the grand total of 600 volumes. It now houses 14,300 books and the only improvement made for the half century has been the reinforcing from time to time as the additional weight of books made it necessary.

Capt. Thurber was Speaker at the Kiwanis Meeting

A fine meeting of the Kiwanis club was held Tuesday, President Bruce McGill presiding.

Dr. Pritchard, in charge of "Keep America, America," read a letter from Capt. Evans, which is given in another column of the News, and called on Stanley Peterson, who spoke on the America subject.

Members were assigned to write letters to Kiwanians in the service.

Judge Noren Eaton was chairman of the meeting and introduced Capt. Walter Thurber who is a staff officer of the 1st Battalion, 39th Reg., of the California State Guard. He helped organize the local company and was its first Commander. He spoke highly of the work of this company and said that they would be the first line of defense in case of a suicide air raid by the Japs or a riot or other similar circumstance, as the Army is being withdrawn and the State Guard has a vital role to play. He complimented Co. Com. Arthur Embree, Sgt. Frank Spencer, Cpl. Eaton and the other officers and men for their faithful work.

Capt. Thurber also paid a tribute to Gen. E. C. Young, retired, a local resident, who was Commander of the Illinois National Guard besides holding many other prominent positions.

Capt. Arthur Embree introduced the following members of the local guard who were present: Ralph Cordry, Arthur Embree, John Wysocki, Noren Eaton, Frank Spencer, Selmer Peterson. Other guests of the club were F. E. Borton, A. E. Madden, Monrovia, and Clifford C. Ward. Regular meeting next week.

KIWANIS CLUB ELECTS

The Kiwanis club has elected new officers for the coming year or follows:

P. R. Penn, president.
E. Eugene Lunsford, vice-president.
James Heasley, secretary.
Arthur Morse, treasurer.

Red Cross Notes

Mrs. Malissa Lee of the Red Cross headquarters met with the local board Wednesday while on survey. The boxes for the convalescing soldiers' Christmas are coming in very well. They must all be in, however, by this Saturday, September 23. The young matrons have been much welcomed at the workroom as they have gradually returned since the children are back in school. A special invitation is given to service men's wives to join in the work. There are several faithful workers who have an almost perfect attendance since the work first started.

SOCIETY

Silver Wedding in Farman Patio

The Gerald I. Farman home, 205 W. Orange Grove Ave., was the scene of a beautiful wedding service Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. A. Roy Brown of Los Angeles renewed their nuptial vows at the silver milestone.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown received their guests, mostly from Los Angeles, in the living-room assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Farman with their daughter, Mrs. Lynne Jacob.

Dr. Ernest Holmes heard a rededication of the sacred vows at the wedding party gathered in the beautiful bower of the patio with its myriad of lights. The service was a ring ceremony. The bride, youthfully charming in a sheer white gown of beaded bodice and full skirt, chose gardenias for her flowers.

A motif in all white was carried out with flowers and tapers on the small tables scattered through the patio as well as the service table in the portico from which the buffet supper was served.

Musical from the romanda lured the anniversary guests to an evening of dancing and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Brown many more wedding days.

Young Musicians Heard in Recital

The studio of Louise Mae Stanham, 241 Ramona St., was the scene of an interesting musical Saturday morning. Among the pupils of Miss Stanham heard in ensemble and solo numbers were: Renee Newman, Sandra Poschin, Marilyn Waits, Deborah Dedrick, Richard Allen Quittner, Maryjean Stone, Glenda Pickrell, Martin Levine, Shela Lee Goldman, Jeanette Gertmenian, Marjorie Pease, Walter Dedrick, Jean Meeder, Douglas Moffat, Bonnie Jean Finch and Patricia Marshall.

Newcomers in City

John G. Pascoe has come to Sierra Madre to be associated with John C. Loomis in the Hotel Building as a real estate and insurance broker. He started in the real estate business 30 years ago in Fresno. For a number of years recently he has been dealing in real estate in Washington, D. C., but about a year ago brought his family to Long Beach and has now decided that Sierra Madre is the place he wants to live. Mr. Pascoe will bring his family to Sierra Madre shortly. The Pascoes have two children, Floree, nine, and Tony, six.

Friday Night Fling

The dance tomorrow night at the Woman's clubhouse—the Friday Night Fling—will be highlighted by having "Girls' Cheats" every other dance or so. Dancing will start at 8:30 p.m.

An interesting program is being planned by Phyllis Jean Lentz, entertainment chairman. Jackie La Fleur and Mike Castanada, co-chairmen, are working hard to make their first dance one of the best.

Jodie Cox, snack bar chairman, announces that there will be cold drinks and hot dogs. Chaperons will be Dr. and Mrs. J. Stadden Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kortkamp, Mrs. Richard Merriam and Mrs. Ralph Cordy.

SIERRA MADRE MEMBERS ATTEND HADASSAH LUNCHEON

At the luncheon meeting of the Hadassah group in Pasadena Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Rae Suhr, Highland Ave., was the recipient of a lovely redwood chaise longue. Mrs. Joseph Weber, also of Sierra Madre, donated the gift, from which the funds raised were given to charity. About 15 local members were in attendance.

Breakfast Fetes New Officers

The Associate Matrons of the 53rd District, O.E.S., entertained their associate conductresses at breakfast Sunday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Barkman, S. Michillinda. Breakfast was planned for the patio but the weather not cooperating it was served inside with covers for 16 guests.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

A large attendance of American Legion Auxiliary members greeted their newly elected president, Mrs. Bertha Irvine, Thursday night for the first meeting held at the attractive mountain home of Mrs. Louise Block, Oakdale Dr.

Final plans for the unit's Christmas Gift program for the sons and husbands of Legion and Auxiliary members were made. A letter from Chaplain Bertha Sammet of Santa Barbara was enjoyed. Birdie Whitley was welcomed following an absence of several months.

The next meeting is to be September 28 at 8 p.m. at the home of Ornelia Stinman, 3807 Green St., Pasadena. The members will meet at Pickett's Service Station at 7:45.

Thanks From the Ration Board

The local War Price and Rationing Board wishes to express its pleasure and appreciation to the following volunteers from Sierra Madre for their very gratifying showing made during this last week in issuing the many hundreds of "A" books which were processed:

Mrs. Margaret Senour, Miss Lulu Moore, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Velma Herbert, Mrs. Francis Yockley, Mrs. Gwen Boissevain, Mrs. Jean R. Hall, Mrs. Virginia John, Mrs. Cameron Dickinson, Mrs. Gloria Hinshaw, Mrs. Gladys Ruble, Gordon Felts, Mrs. Edith Preston, Edith F. Kenny, Mrs. Louise Kortkamp, Mrs. Dora High, Mrs. Bess Boyer, Mrs. Hazel Cowart, Mrs. Elsie Lorenzini, Mrs. Margaret McLaughlin, Mrs. Lorena Adwill, Mrs. Lois Dillon, Mrs. Vera Gebb, Mrs. Nettie Everett.

Keep up the good work—with truck book renewals which began on September 15 adding a good 800 more books to be written, the load of work is extremely heavy. Also, the need for price panel assistants will, from now on, be increasingly urgent. The price line must be held if for no other reason than for the boys demobilized from the armed forces, after Germany's capitulation, who must face the period of readjustment with little more than the "mustering out" pay to finance themselves and their families. This obligation cannot be shirked without disastrous results.

HOME CANNED PEACHES DELICIOUS WHETHER CLING OR FREE-STONE

Clingstone peaches are excellent, but a great many persons prefer the flavor of freestone fruit and also find it somewhat less troublesome to prepare for canning. Whether cling or freestone, good raw peaches make good canned ones, provided they are canned right, but right canning can do nothing for greenish, bitterish, poorly flavored fruit.

peach. Peel the halves by scalding, by the lye method, or by paring with knife. If preferred, the peach may be peeled and then halved by cutting around the stone with knife. The easiest way to remove the flesh from the stone is to cut it in wedge-shaped slices.

Miss Kimbrough recommends hot packing and processing in a hot-water bath canner. Here are her two favorite recipes: (Use the longer cooking and processing time for clings and other very fine peaches.) Method I. Make a sirup of 1 or 2 parts sugar to 1 of water, depending upon the amount liked and the amount available. Add peaches, a few at a time, and simmer until hot through (4 to 10 minutes). Pack into hot jars, layers overlapping, cavity side down. Cover with sirup in which peaches were cooked. Process (cook in jar) 10 to 20 minutes in hot-water bath. Can left-over sirup for pudding or ice cream sauce. Method II. Add from 1 to 1½ cup sugar and one cup boiling water to one gallon prepared peaches. Cook gently until peaches are hot through and sugar dissolved (10 to 20 minutes). Pack and process as instructed above. If there isn't enough liquid to cover peaches in jar, add boiling water after they are packed.

If one is short of sugar, a sirup may be made by boiling two cups white corn sirup, two cups sugar, one cup water, and one-eighth teaspoon salt together five minutes. Honey may be used instead of sugar but it changes the flavor, and sometimes the color, of the fruit. From three-quarters to one cup sirup is usually needed for one quart of peaches. The fruit should be well covered with liquid. (If one runs out of sugar, peaches may be canned with plain boiling water. They keep just as well that way but do not have as good flavor.)

Once fine fruit is selected, carefully prepared and processed right, canning success is assured if jars and caps are used according to the manufacturers' instructions. These instructions will be found on printed leaflets packed in every carton.

Dropping the peeled peaches into weak salt-vinegar water (one tablespoon each to one gallon of water) helps prevent discoloring. They should not be left in the water longer than thirty or forty minutes and must be well rinsed before canning. Clingstone peaches are prepared for canning by removing the skins by one of the methods described above. Clings may be halved (before peeling) by cutting around the peach with a sharp knife, beginning at the stem end and following the crease. After cutting, hold the peach with both hands and twist in opposite directions. This pulls one side away from the stone. Use a regular peach pitting spoon, a teaspoon, or a knife to remove the stone from the other half of the

Sunday Guests of Seven Oaks Ranch

The guests Sunday afternoon at Seven Oaks Ranch, home of the Chas. Mr. Russell, former Hollywood architect, has been a consultant engineer of the Lockheed in London and Ireland. They were married a year ago in England and this is Mrs. Russell's first trip to California, with which she is charmed. Her home was in Glasgow, Scotland.

Woman's Club Opens Season with a Tea Wednesday, Sept. 27

The opening meeting of the Sierra Madre Woman's club will be a beautifully appointed formal tea Wednesday, Sept. 27, starting at 2 p.m.

Presiding at her first meeting, which will be open to members and guests, will be the president, Mrs. J. Stadden Miller. An outstanding speaker has been obtained by Mrs. Al Myers, program chairman—George W. Hill, assistant pastor of the Pasadena Baptist church, whose stimulating talk will be "The Home Front."

The music of the day will be presented by one of Southern California's foremost dramatic sopranos, Nelle Gothold, who has been obtained by Louise Gude-Funk.

It will be a rare treat for club members, as Nelle Gothold has, besides numerous other distinctions, been soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra. She has sung for the Opera Reading club and for the past nine years has been with the Los Angeles schools teaching singing and presenting and training groups for U.S.O. clubs, lodges, radio, etc.

Each member is cordially invited to bring guests to hear this excellent artist and guest speaker which will undoubtedly be one of the most outstanding programs presented during the club year.

Mrs. Charles Klunk and Louise Gude-Funk are in charge of the tea which will be put on by members of the board of directors.

Board members assisting will be Mesdames Percy Kortkamp, John Strauss, Al Myers, Orin Preston, Harry Lange, Harold Drury, J. Emory Diemer, Waverly Pratt, Maybelle Barker, C. H. Sandage, W. S. Hull, Elizabeth Turner and J. Stadden Miller.

A machine has been invented to take the fuzz off peaches. The gadget is said to scrub the fuzz from 15 tons of peaches per hour at a cost of only one mill per box.

SIERRA MADRE REPUBLICAN CLUB

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

Another costly fire this month has brought our fire loss to a much higher figure than Sierra Madre is accustomed to. It has been a sort of superstitious belief of firemen for years that fires occur in series of three. Were this to hold true, we have one to go, before a long interval.

Although it may appear that fires are coming to us more often, it can be expected. Our city has grown, there are many who are not acquainted with the dangers of outdoor burning, many who are not as fire-conscious as those who have lived here for many years and conditions in general are bound to make a definite change in the fire situation.

When it is realized that the latest fire was discovered by the police patrol car before an alarm was sent in, and when discovered, the blaze had already reached high into the sky, we can feel proud of the instant stop made in good time. The fire was confined to the one building in which it started.

It was with much glee that "Shorty" Steinberger drove the fire truck by his station on Auburn and Sierra Madre Blvd. in answer to the fire call. Passing there he did not fail to turn his head to give "Andy" Liscomb what we sometimes term the "horse laugh." Much depends on these two loyal firemen as drivers of the trucks and the one that gets to do the driving is very much the envy of the other. The expression of Andy's face could plainly be called envious. Pete Kreuscher, Owen Kiggins and Dick Hawks brought in the other truck and Pete was well pleased that he should be honored by a fire on his birthday. Once when a stream aimed by Pete struck the Chief directly in the forehead, it was most difficult for him to apologize without smiling.

The latest fire was the result of the storage of rags near the exhaust of an automobile. We must remember that a little heat to an accumulation of rags only hastens what would be "spontaneous combustion." If rags are allowed to gather in close quarters, there is no telling when they will burst into flame.

WORLD ADVENTURE SERIES AT PASADENA AUDITORIUM

Remaining stationary while enjoying the adventures of travel in far-flung lands promises to be the paradoxical experience of those who attend the Elmer Wilson World Adventure Series at Pasadena Civic Auditorium this fall and winter. Six journeys, experienced through the finest in moving pictures, with famed narrators making every step of the trip real, promise to bring to the static travelers adventure, thrills, the beauty of far-off places and acquaintance with strange people.

Burton Holmes, opening his 51st season as one of the world's great lecturers, will bring Mexico to the Pasadena audience in "Today's Mexico," Sept. 29. Mr. Holmes will avoid tourist routes, presenting colored pictures of unknown spots, the real and brilliantly beautiful Mexico. Deane Dickason, famed newscaster, foreign correspondent and cameraman, on Nov. 16 will present "Nias, the Isle of Gold," one of the hitherto mysterious spots on this globe located in the East Indies. "South Africa," continent of incalculable promise where exciting events now are daily occurrences, will be the subject of Austin West's lecture and picture when he appears at the auditorium Dec. 14. Another land of promise, Alaska, will be depicted when the brilliant lecturer, Father Bernard Hubbard, presents "Post-War Alaska" Jan. 18.

Chile with its great estates, its mines and modern health clinics will be made real when Julien Bryan, considered one of the outstanding lecturers of today, brings his new colored pictures of this advanced country March 15. The series will end with a journey to "The River of No Return," presented in word and picture by Frederic and Sylvia Christian. The Christians' trip down the Salmon River in Idaho promises the most daring in adventure and scenes of nature in her most magnificent mood to the holders of the Elmer Wilson World Adventure Series.

YOUR HOME AND MINE BY ANNE WILSON

Pin-it-up wall lamps are a handy and inexpensive way to have light in all the odd places where you have been trying to get along without it. For example, if you have a small dressing table or desk where work space is at a premium, or a chair or davenport where there is no place for a floor lamp, these wall lamps are the ideal solution.

They hang on a nail and take up no floor space at all. They come in many styles. Some, to be used at the kitchen range, sink or breakfast table, have bright colored metal shades that may be washed. Others, with shades of glass, paper or cloth, are suited to living rooms, halls and bedrooms. For game rooms and the youngsters' bedrooms, there are nautical designs on the sturdy shades.

An inner-diffusing bowl of glass or plastic holds the light globe, which should be a 100 watt size to provide the proper amount of light. The diffusing bowl guarantees light of a soft, pleasant quality. Use pin-it-up lamps in the following rooms:

Kitchen: over sink, range and work table. Bedroom: at head of bed, desk and dressing table. Living room: davenport, easy chairs and desk. Hall: telephone table and mirror. Basement or garage: over work bench. Laundry: electric ironer.

Special high explosives used to breach an eight-foot concrete and steel wall on a southern France invasion beach by the engineers were provided by Army Ordnance.

LETTERS from Readers

Sierra Madre News:

I read with interest the account in last week's paper of Mr. Durning's talk to the Kiwanians. From his personal experience, he certainly has had a chance to observe the camps in action, a chance which I have not had. Yet from accounts of others who have actually lived in the camps, it seems possible to come to different conclusions from those of Mr. Durning. I want to put in a word for those of us in town who do not object to the return to the coast of the evacuated Japanese.

It does not seem to me that it is fair to say that 90 per cent of the evacuated Japanese are disloyal. Out of 110,000 evacuated, 30,000 have already been returned to normal life. They work as farmers, domestic servants, accountants, hospital surgeons, dental technicians, pharmacists; their reception, except in a few cases, has been good. Those asking to be repatriated to Japan and those who would not swear allegiance to the United States have been segregated in camp at Tule Lake. All leaving other centers have been carefully investigated by the F.B.I.

The United States soldiers of Japanese descent have won the admiration of their officers and comrades. The 100th Battalion (Japanese descent) has been cited twice for distinguished service in Italy. Six soldiers of Japanese descent were cited for valor in our conquest of Saipan.

All this does not mean that Mr. Durning did not observe much bitterness and unrest among evacuees, but simply that they should be given a chance in America to prove themselves even if they happen to be Japanese. Who among us, especially the citizens of the United States, would not have felt the injustice of having homes, savings, businesses to leave? As for striking, large labor groups have continually struck and there has been no question of espionage. Our way is towards the rights of citizens and we fought one civil war to establish that color does not determine the right to be a citizen.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. H. RODNEY GALE,
669 Sturtevant Dr.

WORD RECEIVED SIERRA MADRE NURSE ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Mrs. Margaret Keys, 419 E. Highland, is in receipt of word that her sister, Capt. Christine Snell, who is with an Army Nurse Corps and is now with an evacuation hospital unit, has just arrived in England. Capt. Snell has been in the service over two years but has up to this time been stationed at various hospitals and camps in this country. She formerly made her home with her sister in Sierra Madre.

CONGREGATIONAL FAMILY DAY TO CELEBRATE NEXT SUNDAY

Next Sunday will be family day at the First Congregational church. The local church is participating in the "Family Day" celebration in cooperation with the program of special days observed by members of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, of which the local church is a member.

At the morning service there will be a dedication of children in Christian Baptism. Dr. Ed. D. Gaylord, former Superintendent of the California Conference of Congregational Churches, will assist the local minister in this part of the service and will personally christen his two grandchildren, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bush. Mr. Bush is the choir director of the church. The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kirk is to be christened also. Mrs. Kirk is the organist at the church. Other family groups will also be presenting their children at the service. The church invites parents of the community to present their small children for christening. It is not necessary to have membership in the local church. Arrangements are made through the minister or the board of deacons of the church.

The music will be appropriate for the day. Both the senior robed choir and the youth choir will sing and the offertory solo will be sung by Samuel Kirk. Rev. Grootsema will speak on the subject: "Abundant Living—at Home . . . as a Shield Against Despair."

After the morning service the entire church family and their friends will go to Pritchard Hall for an old-fashioned family basket dinner. Each family will bring its own food and table service. Coffee will be served by the ladies of the church and milk for children will be provided by the church school. The members and friends of the church are urged to be present at both the morning service and the basket dinner at noon.

The sheer flattery of furs, the Princess line, the slim silhouette occasionally accentuated by a cape . . . peplums, panniers, all these are evident in the new showings. There's a turn-of-the-century lavishness expressed in Edwardian elegance, in gay Victorian colors, in Regency inspired touches. Veterans' Loans

Unlike the soldiers of 1918, those who are mustered out of service in World War II will not be "forgotten" men. The G.I. Bill of Rights already provides for them many advantages and privileges which their fathers either were never accorded or which they received only after years of effort.

The impression has developed, however, that veterans are guaranteed just about everything, including loans for the purchase of farms or homes, or to set themselves up in business. This is not so.

Actually the Federal Government does not plan to lend any money to ex-service men or women. Nor is anyone guaranteed that under certain conditions the Federal Government will guarantee up to 50 per cent, loans made to veterans. The amount guaranteed, however, cannot exceed $2000.

Loans will be made through banks and other lending institutions, and will be subject to the usual requirements which take into consideration the character of the person applying for the loan, the purpose for which he wishes to use the money, and his capacity to repay it. Of course, it goes without saying that financial organizations will be anxious to make every concession to ex-service men, consistent with sound lending practices.

The point that should be remembered is that the Federal Government will only guarantee in part those loans which measure up to a sound standard.

The men who have risked their lives to protect the nation are entitled to the privileges extended to them. But now is the time for it to be clearly understood just what those privileges are so that there will not be misunderstandings and disappointments later on.

Safety's Ten Commandments

With California's hundreds of thousands of children once more making their daily trek schoolward, motorists should remember that the signs reading "Slow—School!" are to be heeded—diligently.

It should also be remembered by the person behind the wheel that youngsters, in spite of numerous warnings, often dash out into the street heedless of the traffic. At other times their childish impulses cause them to act indifferently about getting out of the way of oncoming cars.

However annoying this latter attitude may be to the driver, he should not assume that it is "up to the kids" to get out of the way—and keep his foot on the gas pedal. The driver, being more mature, must bear the greater share of responsibility for the safety of children on the streets.

But children can do much to protect themselves by following the Ten Commandments of Safety:

1. Start to school early enough so you won't have to rush.
2. Plan the safest trip to and from school—take it every day.
3. Always cross streets at the crossing.
4. Never try to out-run an automobile when crossing a street.
5. Look in both directions before crossing and keep alert until the sidewalk is reached.
6. Obey the traffic officer or safety-patrol boy.
7. Don't dart out into the street from behind parked cars or hedges.
8. Don't linger or play in the streets; use playgrounds, vacant lots, and sidewalks.
9. Ride bicycles on the right side of streets and obey all traffic signs.

Keep Your Trail Posted

"Build a mousetrap better than anyone else, and the world will beat a trail to your doorstep." So runs the time-tested adage. But what if the seller is out of mousetraps temporarily, or his supply is rapidly dwindling? Isn't it a good idea for him to keep the trail to his doorstep well posted with signs so the public will never forget the way?

Experience itself provides the best answer. In World War I more than a dozen leading advertisers optimistically announced, "No more advertising till the war's over!" Within two years, their names were inscribed on good. Their names forgotten, their products passed by in favor of those kept prominently before the public by more far-sighted enterprises, all those firms, with-out exception, passed into oblivion. Perhaps it is realization of this fact that has led firms in England, where shortages are far more acute than here—to continue advertising even when they actually have no products to sell. They well know the importance of keeping their names in the forefront of the public's attention. So do America's alert enterprisers, aware that now as never before, the public wants to know the where, when and what of sales, of goods, of credit terms and priority regulations.

There are no priorities, no restrictions, on advertising, and for the very good reason that it has an indispensable job to fill in war time. World War I proved that. Now is America's opportunity to profit by the lesson!

Lining Up

Eighteen States already have memorialized Congress in favor of the proposed constitutional amendment to limit income taxes (after the war) to a maximum of 25 per cent of net income. Within another year, claim backers of the proposal, a majority of the States will have lined up behind the tax-limit plan.

Here and There

by Dean A. G. H. Bode

"GROWING Up in Australia" will be the subject of this column. So much is being written about the war and the election that I thought it might be a welcome change in all this turmoil to have someone quietly spin a yarn, as they used to say in Australia, about his own experiences there. If I were making friends with you, gentle reader, I would like you to tell me about yourself and your experiences. In Australia in the earlier days when little news reached widely separated people, a visitor could always be counted on to make a welcome contribution to some pleasant evenings by telling about the things he knew best.

Australians have sometimes been criticized for speaking freely about themselves without the reserve of the old countries, and charged with "blowing,"—which would mean blowing their own trumpet,—but the answer is that they frankly tell of themselves, what is favorable or unfavorable, wise or foolish, successful or otherwise, after the manner of friends or "mates." In that spirit I offer a few reminiscences from life in the land where I was born.

WELL, I grew up in a family of six in the port of Newcastle, in New South Wales, in a rectory beside a large church. We were surrounded by mining villages and were a mile from an important harbor, at that time full of sailing ships which carried coal and wool to Europe and America. Officers and apprentices in blue coats and brass buttons were frequent visitors at our home. We lived in a house having verandas all around. We lived in a house having the same geraniums and roses and other flowers and shrubs which we grow in Southern California. A few miles away were forests of eucalyptus stretching along the coast and inland, where schoolboys could have adventures and discover strange birds and beasts and reptiles.

THE education we had was different from the usual education of today. Without going to school, my older brother and I learned to read and write with a little help from father and mother, and when I was 7 years old we began to learn Latin. At 9 we could translate Caesar quite well, and we then began the study of Greek by ourselves with the incentive of a golden half sovereign if we worked through many pages and passed an examination.

When I was 11 we entered the Newcastle Grammar School (meaning Latin and Greek grammar), and were placed in the middle class of the school. There we gained the sort of school education which I think Stringfellow Barr would approve, including the Latin and Greek classics, and the learning of great poetry by heart. Having already an accurate foundation from the individual attention of my father we soon rose to the top of the school.

In those days the old-fashioned corporal punishment was the rule, and there were many floggings with a long rattan cane. A copy book fastened inside the trousers was a help in time of trouble.

Boards had an hour's school before breakfast; all boys the usual school hours, with cricket or football before supper. My brother and I walked about two miles to school, the same back home for lunch, learning Euclid as we walked; then the double journey in the afternoon. French and music we learned after school hours.

All pupils could test their progress by the same respective standards at Junior and Senior examinations held by the University of Sydney throughout the State and could receive pass or honor certificates.

LATELY I believe the pass is given and no honors, and a scholar majoring in mechanical work is supposed to rate as high intellectually and socially as one majoring in humanities,—which displeased the Archbishop of Brisbane.

When I see the splendid text books which our young people now have at school I wish I had had such books. One of my history books was an abridgement incomprehensible to a boy. We read how the house of Lancaster fought the house of York, ending the war after the marriage of a Lancastrian and a Yorkist; but when the question was asked: "How were the houses of York and Lancaster united?" the answer made was: "By an underground passage."

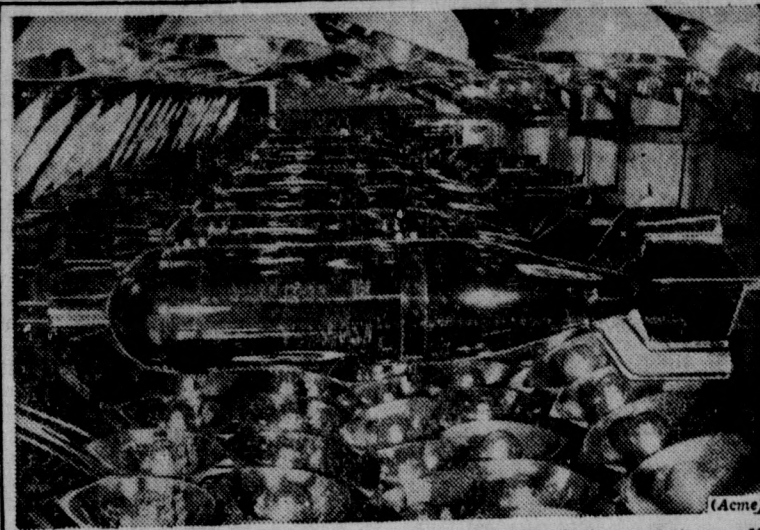

Education in music was different too. My mother taught me piano between my 7th and 8th years. Then in the holidays I used to sit on the church steps near the back of the organ listening to pupils practicing. When they left I would go in and pump the organ full by the handle at the back, then run around to the front and play on the softest stop for a full minute before going back to pump and play for another minute. When I was 13 I played for church, and a lady of means said: "The boy has talent and should have lessons." And so I learned from the Cathedral organist in Sydney.

As is usual in a clergyman's family we could afford no luxuries. It may seem strange to people today, but all the clothes we wore were made by my mother. We could not buy clothes as we do today in America. I have a vivid memory of waking to hear my mother's Willcox and Gibbs sewing machine humming far into the night as she made clothes for a family of six, till the oldest boys were about 13 or 14. We had "Blucher" boots like workmen's, hob-nails, copper toes on children's shoes, little or no pocket money. But we managed to get along without the toys and shows and birthday presents we have today. We made things and amused ourselves. And my mother had a merry heart, and kept up many quaint old customs from her early life in a Welsh castle.

WE lived quite close to the Pacific ocean and at night we heard the "league-long rollers thundering" on the beach. Sometimes on a stormy night a signal flare of distress would be seen in the darkness and the boom of a cannon would be heard in answer from the fort, and rescuers would start for a wreck. I remember a bearded captain of an old coal ship talking late and earnestly with my father one stormy night. Many such people came to consult him during the 36 years of his life as rector. It is almost unbelievable, but in those days the owner of an old vessel could order his captain to take his ship out in stormy weather to become a wreck if possible in order to collect the insurance. If the captain refused he lost his master's certificate and his job, which was what the good man decided he must do.

Living in a seaport we knew of men being shanghaied, made drunk and taken to sea, ill treated and ill fed, and of their struggles for decent conditions against long opposition. When my friends speak against the protective unions of seamen who have done such marvels for us in the war, I am polite but feel like the captain who promised his wife not to swear, and who then would say: "God bless you, my boys, but you know what I mean."

Automobile prices won't make the postwar buyer happy, according to manufacturers. Labor rates paid by the industry must be passed on to the consumer. Industry has no objection to high wages except that they increase the selling price of products, thereby reducing sales. Marketing experts advise distributors to make a study of the small-town market for postwar sales. Towns with less than 25,000 population and unincorporated rural areas comprise 69 per cent of America's population.

The nation's lumber dealers, who naturally like to have people build their homes of wood, will be powerfully aided in merchandising this construction material by the wartime expansion of the treated lumber industry. One industry alone is producing annually more than 30,000,000 board feet of timber which have been made fire-resistant by pressure treatment with a group of salts known as minialith. Just as soon as Allied victory is assured, treated lumber, capable of resisting not only fire, but decay and termites as well, will become available for construction of millions of new homes and industrial buildings. The annual output of treated lumber of all categories exceeds 4,000,000,000 feet.

So heavily do the people of the United States, both urban and rural, depend upon truck and bus transportation that the current shortage of heavy-duty tires, which threatens curtailment of such transportation, can be classed as everybody's headache. More than 54,000 communities in the United States depend altogether upon truck and bus transportation. No less than 34 large American cities receive their entire milk supply by truck; more than one-fourth of the nation's trucks are on the farms; and trucks and buses are vitally important to war plants located far outside of cities. That's why government transportation authorities are urging truck operators to take every precaution to get the last possible mile out of present tires.

Manufacturers and retailers of hard-to-get towels, sheets, pillow cases and other household necessities made of cotton see little hope of normal supplies for civilians until after the defeat of Japan. For one thing, they believe the demand for cotton goods for the armed forces may be even greater than it is now when all the Allied armed forces are concentrated in the Pacific. Another factor is that the textile starvation of the world's devastated countries is said to be even worse than their food situation. Finally, the manpower shortage in American mills is still so serious that the industry could easily absorb 250,000 more workers if they could be found. Although this spells housekeeping troubles for the ladies, have a look at what the men face. Stocks of shirts, pajamas and underwear right now are reported to be lowest in history. And with the heavy consumer buying season coming on, stocks of this merchandise are expected to keep on

California's Goal in War Chest Third Largest in Nation

California's goal in the War Chest drive, starting October 9, will be $20,000,000, making it the third largest in the nation. This was announced at a meeting of workers held recently at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles.

The effect of an early armistice in Europe will not mean a decrease in the needs of our fighting men. It will, on the contrary, increase the need for recreational and morale services.

The end of fighting will not mean the end of suffering for our allies and the war prisoner problem will continue long after the actual combat stops.

Mrs. Ada Aratin, chairman of the Sierra Madre War Chest committee, stated at a recent organization meeting that the men of our merchant fleet drop anchor in strange ports, often in foreign countries. The United Seamen's Service has the welcome sign out on hotels and clubs located on six continents. Taking the place of yesterday's dockside dive, the USS club serves as a gathering place for merchant mariners, where a magazine or a game of cards may be enjoyed. Hotels provide clean, low-cost overnight accommodations in crowded ports. Seven rest centers are maintained here in the United States for convalescent seamen and victims of "convoy fatigue" and torpedoes. A network of 82 clubs, hotels and rest homes is operated by United Seamen's Service through the War Chest.

The Sierra Madre Civic club, sponsor of the 1944 War Chest drive in Sierra Madre, held its final organization meeting Monday, September 18.

For every hour commercial pilots are in the air, 16 manpower hours are spent on the ground on mechanical overhaul and maintenance.

Ben Solnit Takes Role to Fight White Plague

In war and peace alike, the fight against tuberculosis must continue unabated. With this as their keynote, leaders of Los Angeles Jewry gathered last week at the Ambassador hotel to rededicate their efforts to a life-saving cause with a 32-year record of uninterrupted service to humanity in war and peace.

The occasion was the installation of Ben Solnit, former local resident, as president of the Jew-

Civic Club Plays Santa

Two groups of fighting men in the European and Burma theatres of war will spend a happier Christmas Day this year due to the thoughtfulness of the Sierra Madre Civic club.

A list of names of men who have no families and receive no mail was compiled by several relatives and friends of the club members overseas. These men will receive Christmas boxes filled with articles most desirable for the locale in which they are stationed.

Special requests from the India-China-Burma theatres include belts, plastic cigarette cases, playing cards in a case, cloth fur-lough bags, interesting games of all kinds, and cases to hold toilet articles. Candy and nuts must be vacuum packed in tin.

One request, however, has the club members stopped. It was for "turkey, mashed potatoes, and milk."

ish Consumptive Relief Association, operating the national, free, non-sectarian Los Angeles Sanatorium for the tuberculous. More than 200 attended the event.

The principal task of the new slate of officers will be to direct a $1,000,000 war and postwar building program, the effect of which will be to build a new City of Hope, larger and more effective than ever before in the fight against the white plague.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

"He gallantly gave his life in the defense of his country," ends his citation for the Silver Star. During fighting on Tulagi, Marine Private George Alfred Johnson, of Coatesville, Pa., with utter disregard for his personal safety, rushed to the mouth of a cave that sheltered Jap snipers and blasted them out with hand grenades until he was killed. He'd want us to buy War Bonds to fulfill that mission! War Bonds—The Ideal Christmas Gift.

In all, they've taken part in over 120 missions to all points of Hitler's tottering empire.
